TO SEE OCEAN'S MYSTERIES

Invention of Italian Engineer is Likely Soon to Be Put into General Use.

"Come down and see the fish," may be a greeting this summer at some seaside resorts. Several watering places are negotiating for the installation of the kiosk-hydro, a new invention, which enables sightseers to descend into the sea.

The kiosk-hydro, which is the invention of an Italian engineer, consists of a circular steel observation chamber in the walls of which are double water-tight windows. Above these windows are electric lamps of 10,000 candle power, fitted with reflectors and capable, it is claimed, of projecting light a distance of 1,500 feet when the water is clear.

The chamber has a sloping roof, which narrows into a steel tube, through which two staircases, one for descent and the other for ascent, lead to the water level. The upper part of the kiosk-hydro may either take the form of a floating kiosk, rising and falling with the tide, and connected with a pier by a gangway, or it may be part of the pier itself, with the observation chamber suspended just above the bed of the sea.

Glass half an inch thick is used for the windows, and the steel shell is of the same thickness.

Colds Are Often Most Serious Stop Possible Complications.

The disregard of a C. I. d. has often brought many a regret. The fact of sneezing, coughing, or a fever should be warning enough that your system needs immediate attention. Certainly loss of sleep is most serious. It is a warning given by Nature. It is a man's duty to himself to assist by doing his part. Dr. King's New Discovery is based on a scientific analysis of C. I. d. 50c, at your Druggist. Buy a bottle today.—Advertisement.

SELDOM IS TRUE REFLECTION

Person We See Depends on What Mirror We Look Into, and Not All Are Complimentary.

"Here," said Mrs. Spastick, "is something that I have always said myself and now it is in the newspaper! One seldom sees one's true reflection in a mirror!"

"Now there is a real optimist!" observed Swastick. "I have always wanted to think that! Every time I have looked at myself in a mirror during all these years of having and parting my golden locks and trying on new hats and suits, I have had a sad, wistful feeling on beholding my image. I never knew what I sighed for!"

"All this time I have been worrying about the forbidding scowl that haunts my features through no coyness on my part, about the scared look of my ears and the Ulsterish disposition of my topknot."

"Now, it was not Apollo-like beauty that I craved; it was only the comforting knowledge that I didn't really look like my reflection in the glass."

"One does not look the same in all mirrors," said Mrs. Swastick thoughtfully. "There are some glasses that make a person look beautiful. I would like to think that they are somewhere near right, anyway."

"Well," said Swastick, "I never saw a mirror that flattered me as much as others knock me. There is a mirror in the elevator that gives me a rather refined look, but most of them mock me in a very rude and impolite manner, caricature me and burlesque me."

"Under this horrid arrangement I should think that ladies dressing for a ball would all want to go over to the ballroom to dress by the ballroom mirrors, so they could know exactly how they were going to look at the ball."

"It seems a shame for a woman to dress by her home mirror, only to find when she gets to the ballroom that she looks entirely different."

"But," contended Mrs. Swastick, "it isn't how she will look to herself in the ballroom mirror that bothers her. It is how she will look to the rest of the people at the ball. But if a woman can't tell how she looks to other people by looking at herself in a mirror, how is she ever going to know? It is very unsatisfactory for a woman never to be able to know exactly how she looks."

"I suppose it would be better to know the worst," murmured Swastick.

Ears on Their Legs.

David Fairchild, who has hunted the world over for plans of economic value and introduced them into this country, has communicated some interesting facts about insects to our National Geographic society, which has in turn given them to the public. He says the champion aeronaut is the king grasshopper, which has the ability to jump one hundred times its length and can sail for a thousand miles before the wind. The cricket is described as a powerful singer, its shrill note sometimes being heard a mile away. The males alone are musical, and the females listen to their melodious wooings with ears which are on their forelegs. Being so musical, it would hardly be expected that they would be such fighters among themselves as they are, or cannibals, eating each other when there is not enough other food at hand. The ants are described as communists, because the individual interest is merged in the community. There is a female rights colony. The workers are females, the soldiers are females, the nurses are females, and there is one queen mother for them all, who lays all the eggs for the colony. The males are but mates for the young queens.—The Christian Herald.

Arc Light and Echoes.

To improve the acoustic properties of a large hall at the University of Illinois an electric arc light was used to assist the investigators in locating the sources of sound disturbance.

The acoustical properties of the room were wretched at the start, but by a series of experiments within the auditorium itself, following careful studies in the laboratory, the trouble has been, practically, cured.

Echoes were located by means of an alternating current arc light, a beam from which, accompanied by the hissing sound of the arc, was directed to various parts of the room. The paths of the light reflections were traced and verified by the sound.

A complete acoustical survey was thus made of the auditorium, resulting finally in the hanging of curtains and canvases in various parts of the room so as to stop the reverberations.—Engineering Record.

Fire Chief "Made Time."

Fire Chief John Kenlon had a rather novel experience in reaching an early morning blaze recently. When four alarms were sounded for a fire at a yacht and engine plant at Morris Heights, in The Bronx, the chief hopped into his red automobile and started for the northern borough. At Lenox avenue and 127th street the engine "went dead." This didn't stop the chief, for he ran to the nearest "L" station and rode to the viaduct at Eighth avenue and 155th street, where he spied a private touring car. After waking up the chauffeur and flashing his badge he jumped in and was whisked up Sedgwick avenue, as he said later, hitting only the high spots, until he reached the fire. The chauffeur admitted it was the fastest clip he had ever driven, and added that his speedometer must have thought it was his birthday.—New York Tribune.
